

EFPTA Conference Helsinki 18-21 April 2024 workshop and symposium sessions

There are three workshop /symposium slots in the conference programme on Saturday 20 April: at 9.30, 13.00 and 14.30. There will be three or four parallel options in each slot, scheduled so that conference participants have a suitable range of options each time. The final schedule will be available soon. Conference participants can sign up for their preferred sessions on arrival.

---

WORKSHOPS

---

Challenging common misconceptions in social psychology

Dr Kateřina Machovcová, Charles University, Prague, Czechia

---

Managing stage fright in a classroom: Practical approaches for easing anxiety

Heidi Iik, European Federation of Psychology Students' Associations (EFPSA)

---

"I missed my teachers": the impact of teacher-student relationships at upper secondary school

Elva Björk Ágústsdóttir, Reykjavík, Iceland

---

Culture : not just a human-only behaviour?

Evie Bentley, Association for the Teaching of Psychology (ATP), England

---

Teaching critical thinking skills in psychology by means of a classroom experiment

Prof Åge Diseth, University of Bergen, Norway

---

Inspiration for your psychology classroom: carousel activities

Dr Lenka Sokolová, EFPTA Board, and Comenius University, Bratislava, Slovakia with other Board members of EFPTA

---

The Psychology of Artificial Intelligence

Mairi Rice, Association for the Teaching of Psychology Scotland (ATPS)

---

An introduction to neurotransmission for psychology teachers

Ilari Kousa, Finland

---

Phenomenal experience of phenomenon-based didactics

Anne Riekkinen, Finland

---

What is EFPTA for? Some self-reflection at the 20-year milestone

Morag Williamson, Scotland (ATPS), and Dr Ebba Blåvarg, Stockholm University

---

SYMPOSIUM

---

The Crisis for training Psychology teachers

Dr Karen Duffy and Louise Quinn, Manchester Metropolitan University, England

---